Core Research Foundation

Ask these questions first to establish the research foundation:

1. Primary Research Objective

- "What is the primary objective of your research? What specific strategic goal are you trying to achieve?"
- "What key business decision will this research inform?" (e.g., market entry, product launch, strategic planning, investment decision)

2. Research Subject & Scope

- "What is the main subject of analysis?" (company name, industry, market, or product/service)
- "If analyzing a specific organization, please provide: company name, primary industry, approximate size (revenue/employees), and main products/services"
- "What is the geographic scope?" (local, regional, national, global, or specific countries/regions)

3. Critical Research Questions

- "What are the 3-5 most important questions this research must answer?"
- "Are there specific areas of concern or opportunity you want emphasized?"

4. Timeline Requirements

- "What are the starting and finishing dates?"
- "What are important milestone dates in between the starting and finishing dates?"
